LESSON SERMON.

FIRST CHURCH OF CHRIST,
SCIENTIST, HONG KONG.

"Christ Jesus" was the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, August 28.

The Golden Text was—"Jesus Christ the same yesterday, and today, and for ever." (Hebrews 12: 8.)

Among the citations which comprised the Lesson-Sermon was the following from the Bible. "And the angel said unto her, Fear not, Mary; for thou hast found favour with God. And, behold, thou shalt conceive in thy womb, and bring forth a son, and shalt call his name Jesus. And he shall reign over the house of Jacob for ever; and of his kingdom there shall be no end." (Luke 1: 30, 31, 32.)

The Lesson-Sermon also included the following from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health, with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "Jesus was a human name, which belonged to him in common with other Hebrew boys and men, for (Continued at foot of next column.)"

It is identical with the name Jesus, the renowned Hebrew leader. On the other hand, Chris, is not a name so much as the divine title of Jesus. Christ expresses God's spiritual eternal nature. The name is synonymous with Messiah, and alludes to the spirituality which is taught, illustrated, and demonstrated in the life of which Christ Jesus was the embodiment. (P. 233.)

ADVICE TO SUICIDES

BETTER AND BRIGHTER
SLOGANS ON SUMA BEACH.

Suma is almost as famous for suicides as for its fine scenery. For many years notice boards with the words "Wait a Moment!" have been planted along the seashore in an attempt to make intending suicides reconsider their intentions. Realizing that few people bent on self-destruction are restrained by this reminder, the local welfare committee has conceived the idea of selecting more efficacious slogans.

It invited the public to suggest some good substitutes for the threadbare "Wait a Moment!" slogan. Here are some of the slogans suggested by the public:—

- 1.—Don't cry, don't worry, don't be rash!
- 2.—There's a paradise in this world of worry.
- 3.—Stop! Come to the welfare committee for advice.
- 4.—Abandon death, not life!
- 5.—You were not born to kill yourself.
- 6.—Take advice rather than indulge in melancholy meditation!
- 7.—Be back! Human sympathy is deeper than the sea.
- 8.—Life is better than fame and money.
- 9.—Live and live strongly and cheerfully!
- 10.—Think better of it at the last moment!

BOLSHEVISM IN BURMA.

A TOTAL DENIAL.

THARRAWADDY U PU'S
STRONG COMMENT.

Rangoon, Aug. 2.—The political correspondent of the Rangoon Times, on reading in the Rangoon Gazette that a Social Democratic Party, sponsored by Tharrawaddy U Pu, U Tan Gyaw and U Ni had been formed, in which the policy of the Bolsheviks was outlined as the policy of their party, immediately saw Tharrawaddy U Pu who made a statement denying that he had any Bolshevik inclinations.

He also said that he intended getting into communication with the other two leaders to thresh out the whole matter.

His statement is as follows: "I must confess extreme surprise at the imputation made in the Rangoon Gazette that I am sponsoring, along with U Tan Aung Gyaw and U Ni a party which has as one of its most important aims a species of communalism, with which I am at total variance.

"During my long experience as a politician I have fought to obtain as many advantages as I could possibly derive for Burma and her people but by no stretch of the imagination can it be said that I have advocated a pooling of the productive wealth of the country.

"I also see that there is a clause in the English manifesto advocating commercial discrimination to which I am opposed. I entirely disassociate myself from such views. When the manifesto, which was written in Burmese by a member of our party, was sent to me I glanced through it hurriedly and, being assured that it followed the lines of the policy previously enunciated by me, I signed it.

"From the English translation which was published to-day and which I never saw before, I find that, unwittingly, I have attested my signature to the above aims which are contrary to my policy and because I do not desire to be misunderstood I am compelled to make this statement, not only in the interest of members of our party and the paper New Ra Hla.

"My present aim is to obtain the separation of Burma from India. The Burmans desire it and I intend to do my level best in the forthcoming election to fight for its cause. I do not desire to be a party to manifestoes which, in the light of their language, must produce sensation and be regarded as a political stunt. Such aims, needless to say, can never be put into practice.

"I have stated at the Conference in London, as also in Burma, repeatedly, that the minority interests are quite safe in my hands—my policy is to be fair to all."

The above statement is signed by Tharrawaddy U Pu.

We cannot pass the episode (says the Rangoon Times) without comment on the carelessness of Tharrawaddy U Pu in signing the manifesto originally referred to as all, and the further slipshod manner of its publication in his newspaper.

One would think that duty to country, to party and to self would prompt the most careful reading and revision of any such statements broadcasted to a mainly credulous and trusting public.

NEW STRAITS $1 NOTES
TO BE ISSUED.PANEL WATERMARK OF TIGER'S HEAD.

In the near future the Currency Commissioners will issue a $1 note of an entirely new design, manufactured by Messrs. Bradbury Wilkinson & Co., Ltd., England.

The new note is printed on white paper and is similar in size to the existing $1 note.

The colour scheme of the face of the new note is bluish-grey with a plate of variegated colours in the centre and the distinctive feature is a portrait of King George V.

The colour scheme of the back is blue and an effigy of Britannia and a jungle scene with a picture of a tiger in the foreground are shown.

An important feature of the new note is a panel watermark representing a tiger's head on the left hand side of the note.

The new note is numbered in two places only, the top right hand corner and the bottom left hand corner, and bears only the facsimile of the Treasurer's signature on behalf of the Currency Commissioners.

The first series of the new notes are all dated January 1, 1931.

Notes on the existing design will continue in circulation side by side with the new type, but will be gradually withdrawn as opportunity offers.

WAR GAS NOT SO BAD.AMERICAN GENERAL
DEFENDS CHEMICAL ARMY.

The next war will blot out great cities, say the prophets of doom. These Jeremiahs stand in the market-place (or its modern equivalent, the Sunday newspaper) and foresee death on the wings of aeroplanes, raining down poison gases that will kill off the civil population, says Frank Thone in "Science News Letter."

All this is very fine for providing a shuddery thrill, he goes on, and to give you a nickel's worth of Sunday-morning reading. But are these direful things really going to happen? He answers:

"No! declare soldiers and chemists, emphatically and indignantly. General H. L. Gilchrist, Chief of the Chemical Warfare Service, and Dr. H. E. Howe, editor of Industrial and Engineering Chemistry, have turned a little cold, scientific attention on the great gas bogey—and he has vanished!

"In the first place, it is pointed out, there is no war gas that will penetrate any gas-mask or find its way into any gas-tight room or dug-out. There is no gas cheap enough to be used for wiping out whole cities.

"The gases that figure in all chemical combat plans of the present day are phosgene, mustard gas, and lewisite. None of them will pass through the soda-lime and charcoal of a gas-mask; indeed, none of them will come in through the cracks around a reasonably tight window."

"With the coming into general use of air-conditioning plants, we shall see an entirely new style in architecture: buildings with windows not built to open at all, or, perhaps, even with no windows. And it will be a relatively simple matter to add a 'detoxicator' to the air-conditioning apparatus."

A Town's Chance.

But suppose a large part of the population should be caught in the open. Suppose an air fleet should put down a blanket of phosgene or mustard gas. Would the rescue parties find them all corpses? We are told:

"For answer, General Gilchrist points to casualty records of the A.E.F. in the World War. Of the 238,338 wounded in battle, 34,240 died on the battle-field. Of this number, only 200 deaths were due to gas. The percentage of deaths among the hospitalised gas casualties was 1.73; among the wounded from other causes the death rate was slightly over 8 per cent."

"The fact is that a modern American city is a far better place in which to face a gas raid from the air than a comparable area at the front would be. To be effective, a military gas must hug the ground. If more than twenty feet thick, the gas is too diffuse to have any effect. If a plane raid should begin showering a city with gas, the alarm cry might well be, 'To the sky-scrapers!'"

Again, Mr. Thone believes that tall buildings greatly reduce the chances of gasbombs falling in the streets. Bombs scattering their contents on roofs would be largely wasted. Moreover, bombs dropped from planes follow an oblique course. Many of them would dash against the sides of the buildings, and would have a much-diminished effect. He goes on:

"The purpose of a gas projectile is to deliver the gas; so as a rule only enough explosive is included to break the casing and scatter the contents. And prospective victims can strengthen their lower-story windows in various ways."

"But most effective of all the city's gas defenses is its irregular skyline. Like a mountain-range beset with narrow canyons, it is the scene of constantly swirling air-currents. If a cloud of gas were released into those canyons, the wind would sweep it out in very short order."

"Any way, why waste time and ammunition on civil population? In London there were 1,413 civilians killed and 3,408 wounded, and the industrial morale possibly damaged somewhat. But it cost the wrecking of 29 Zeppelins and 41 big bombs, planes, the detonation of 290 tons of bombs, and the time of a lot of highly trained fighting men. General Gilchrist has calculated that each London civilian killed by the German air raids cost the German Government $27,000."

"Furthermore, the psychological effect was a boomerang. Instead of being thrown into a panic, the English were made fighting mad. So it is highly likely that unless somebody does really discover one of those highly improbable 'secret gases,' chemical warfare is likely to stay at the front."

BRAVERY OF FORMER
S.S. SURVEYOR.ROYAL HUMANE SOCIETY'S AWARD.

London, July 31.—The Royal Humane Society has presented its vellum certificate, awarded in connection with life saving, from drowning to Mr. R. L. Rutherford, a retired surveyor who recently returned from the Straits Settlements, and is now living at 85, Tregunter Road, Kensington.

Mr. Rutherford, who is 58, made a brave attempt to rescue a seven-year-old Chelsea schoolboy, who, when playing on some steps near Battersea Bridge, fell into the Thames and was carried under the bridge.

Mr. Rutherford, who was on Chelsea Embankment, hearing a shout, looked over the wall and saw the boy's face in the water. He jumped into the river, fully clad, and attempted to reach the child, but failed. There was a strong ebb tide running, and Mr. Rutherford is only a moderate swimmer, and the nearest point at which he could have landed was about 80 yards away.

Mr. Rutherford became exhausted and had himself to be rescued, by means of a lifebuoy, to which he clung, until picked up by a motor-boat. He was afterwards detained in hospital for some hours, suffering from the effects of his immersion.

NEW CONSULAR
INVOICES.OFFICIAL CLARIFICATION
OF DOUBTFUL POINTS.

Nanking, Aug. 22.—In view of the many inquiries recently received regarding the regulations governing the issuance of consular invoices promulgated by the National Government on June 30, the Ministry of Foreign Affairs deems it necessary to clarify certain points involved in the enforcement of these regulations.

In the first place, the regulations in question will be enforced on the prescribed date, that is, September 1, 1932.

The National Government does not contemplate postponement of this date of enforcement.

But for the benefit of those foreign merchants who need some time to adapt themselves to the new system, it has been decided to modify, provisionally, the final clause as embodied in Article IX. of the Regulations to the following extent:

(A). Consignees of cargo shipped during September and October and not covered by consular invoice must pay to the Chinese Customs the certification fee of five gold units for the issue of a set of consular invoices by the Customs irrespective of the date of arrival.

(B). Consignees of cargo shipped during November and December and not covered by consular invoice must pay to the Chinese Customs ten gold units for the issue of a set of consular invoices by the Customs irrespective of the date of arrival.

(C). Consignees of cargo shipped on or after January 1, 1933 and not covered by consular invoice must pay to the Chinese Customs according to the provisions of Article IX. i.e., fifteen gold units for the issue of a set of consular invoice by the Customs.

Adequate Machinery.

In the second place, China maintains Consular offices in most of the principal commercial cities of the world. There is provided adequate machinery to handle the certification of consular invoices. New Consulates are being established in Great Britain, the United States, France, Japan and other countries; and in future more Consular offices will be opened whenever and wherever it is found necessary.

In the third place, in order to give further facilities to foreign merchants, it has been decided to give any and every Chinese Consulate abroad the authority to certify consular invoices instead of limiting it to the Consulate at the port of shipment as provided in the regulations. Besides, arrangements have already been made with the Chinese Consulates abroad to allow merchants to obtain beforehand blank invoices in quantities enough to last for a reasonable period of time so that merchants may fill in the items in the invoices in their own offices and send them to the nearest Chinese Consulate for certification from time to time.

In the fourth place, Chinese consular officers abroad have been instructed to perform their duties of certification with due efficiency and care. Prompt service is strongly emphasized; secrecy of the information contained in the consular invoice is particularly enjoined. As a further measure of protection in the interests of foreign merchants, it has been definitely decided not to appoint Honorary Merchant Consuls to issue and certify consular invoices so that secret information in one trade may not be divulged to competing merchants of the same trade.

Instructions to Consuls.

Finally, it should be emphasized that the introduction of the system of consular certification will in no way impede foreign trade. The experiences of the United States of America and other countries tend to show that the system of certification will prove beneficial to those engaged in foreign commerce as well as to the Government enforcing the system. It is hoped that all commercial establishments and individuals concerned will give full co-operation to the Chinese Government in the enforcement of the Regulation for Consular Invoices.—Kuo Min.

THE MURDERED
FOREIGNERS.DISCOVERIES AS RESULT OF INQUIRIES.

Sianfu, Aug. 13.—Searching enquiries are being made as to the Tornvall-Ekval tragedy. Lieutenant Soule, of the American Legation, arrived on August 10, accompanied by Major Todd of the C.I.F.R.C., and Mr. Leahy, of the motor company, Mr. G. Findlay Andrey came by air the following day. The well into which the bodies were said to have been thrown was searched, but nothing found, though the presence of a canteen bottle and signs of blood, together with the fact that the well has been recently filled in, seemed to indicate that the bodies had been removed elsewhere, as was likely to happen.

The Provincial Chairman, Yang Hu Chen, received the visitors and also the local Famine Relief Committee. He expressed great concern over the matter and said that till a few days ago he knew nothing whatever about it, a statement which we believe to be true. It seems fairly certain now that the crime was committed by soldiers acting under the orders of someone whose motive was robbery.

Word must have come from the northwest that so much money was being brought down and it may have come from some one who having bought cars were irritated at being expected to pay for them. Mr. Ekval's car, of course, was taken and has not yet been found. The representative of the American Minister is making the following demands:

1.—Production of the bodies; 2.—Punishment of the offenders; 3.—Reparations; 4.—Promise of protection for the lives of foreigners.

There are peculiar elements of cruelty, treachery and ingratitude in this affair. It would have been possible to have taken the money and let the men go. It is said that there was hesitation both about shooting Mr. Tornvall and the Chinese, but finally they decided to remove all witnesses. A foreign lady in the West Salsburg heard the four shots that ended these lives and wondered at the time why they were shooting so near the city.

Then again the murder seems to have been committed by some of those responsible for law and order upon whom foreigners rely for protection in this unsettled land. In killing Mr. Tornvall also they struck down an agent of the Famine Relief Commission which has brought great sums of money and wrought lasting benefits for the people of Shensi.

The cholera seems to have reached the peak in the city and people are dying at the rate of a hundred a day. Thousands have been inoculated against it, the streets are well dusted with lime, and we hope the epidemic will soon begin to die down.

WHEN SAILORS WERE TOUGH.EX-POWDER MONKEY ON THE NAVY 80 YEARS AGO.

From "powder monkey" to grocer is the life of Mr. John Chapman, a 93-year-old veteran of the Crimean War who now lives near Canterbury. Mr. Chapman sailed the seas when fogging and cannon balls were in vogue, when a sailor had to be tough. He thinks seamen are pampered now.

"They coddle the chaps in the Navy nowadays," said Mr. Chapman in spinning an old sailor's yarn. "I lived for over a year on the H.M.S. Furious during the siege of Sebastopol on salt meat, ship's biscuit, and 'duff' pudding. We never saw any fruit or vegetables, and lime juice was given us to prevent scurvy. We used to call the meat 'mahogany'."

"They were very fond of fogging in those days and I often saw fellows get 28 strokes of the cat from the boatswain's mate and then be put in irons for getting drunk."

For a salary of eighteen shillings a month Mr. Chapman sailed on the Furious as a "powder monkey"—helping to feed the guns with cannon balls. The ship carried fifteen 32-pounder guns and one 80. pounder. She was a wooden ship, equipped with paddles and a full rig of sails. Her highest speed, with full sail, and paddles working, was nine knots.

But in 1857 Mr. Chapman had enough of the sea and decided to become a grocer instead. He sold groceries in the same shop at Ramsgate for 45 years.

HOUSES COLLAPSE.
AS A RESULT OF HEAVY
RAINS.YOUNG BOY BELIEVED TO BE BURIED IN DEBRIS.

The rains that fell almost incessantly since Saturday night were not without the calamities usually attendant on such persistent downpours for shortly before 6 p.m. yesterday, three houses at Yat Fu Street, in the "red light" district at West Point collapsed, following a landslide. As a result two men, To Shing (30) and Cheng Leung (40) were sent to the Government Civil Hospital while a boy aged 14 is believed to be still buried in the debris. The police and fire brigade were on the scene shortly after the collapse but owing to the fact that darkness had almost set in by the time they set to work, coupled with the danger threatened by further likely collapses, the casualty list was not available up till a late hour last night.

A Two-Ton Boulder.

A Daily Press representative visited the scene but there was nothing much to be seen with the exception of a huge pile of debris. Information was not very readily available but from scraps of stories gathered from the people in the vicinity, it was learned that the first sign that there was anything amiss was a rumbling noise, followed by a still bigger noise not unlike a thunder-clap. People rushing out of doors first saw one great sheet of dust and by the time this had cleared, the spectacle of a huge pile of bricks and loose earth greeted their eyes. Closer examination revealed a huge boulder weighing something in the neighbourhood of two tons buried in the debris. Houses No. 15 and 17 collapsed completely while a part of No. 12 had also fallen in.

Boy Still Under?

The alarm was promptly given and soon the police and fire brigade were working hard to extricate those buried in the debris. According to one of the workers, seven women, believed to be inmates of the "houses" were extricated almost uninjured while two men were sent to hospital.

Darkness hindered the rescue gang from further operations while they were also endangered by the fact that house No. 10 was in a very threatening condition. When they abandoned work it was thought that a boy aged 14 was still buried in the debris.

The official list of casualties was not available up till the time of going to press but it is believed that the total is in the vicinity of a dozen or so.

The work of cleaning up the debris will be continued this morning.

SCHOOL FEES.

MILL HILL'S HELP FOR PARENTS.

The first public school in England to inaugurate a system of fees by instalments is Mill Hill School, N.W.

The scheme was announced by Mr. Herbert Markham, vice-chairman of the governors of the school as Foundation Day.

The parents of some of the boys, he said, were feeling the national crisis acutely, and the governors had accordingly inaugurated the instalment system without charging any interest for overdue payments.

Mr. M. L. Jacks, the headmaster, said that it was impossible substantially to cheapen the cost of public school education without cheapening its quality. A reduction of fees might lead to a curtailment of staff, and possibly to a lower level of education. That was the last for to be surrendered.

The fees at Mill Hill are £100 a year.

Among the views of headmaster of other public schools on the plan are:—

Mr. J. F. Foxburgh, Stowe: The scheme sounds as good a move as I have yet heard for meeting these difficult times; but if the plan were adopted by all parents it would prove very costly to the school concerned.

Canon W. R. Dawson, Brighton College: We have had repeated inquiries from parents for deferred payments in view of the present financial stress. So far, however, no definite scheme has been put forward, although where a parent has asked for a postponed payment we have met him.

I think it will be found that all schools are prepared to assist parents. At the same time the schools cannot afford to go too far, otherwise they may get into difficulty with their own finances.

PLANS FOR POONA ARMY SCHOOL.

DINING-ROOM RUN ON LINES OF OFFICERS' MESS.

Bombay, July 28. — Lt.-Col. Graham Seton Hutchinson Principal of the Shivaji Memorial Military Preparatory School, Poona, has arrived at Poona from England, and is busily engaged in getting to know his schoolboys and the conditions under which the school is to be conducted.

These conditions, of course, will very largely be moulded by himself.

In an interview to-day he said he had no intention of modelling the school on the lines of any particular institution. He was familiar with the methods of somewhat similar schools in France, Germany and America and with the best English public schools, and he hoped to incorporate the best of the traits of all of them.

General Education.

The first objective of the school, he said, was to train boys for entry into the Indian military colleges, but it was obvious that all of them could not succeed in that direction. He would, therefore, make it the object of the school not only to impart military training but to equip each boy with a sound general education.

The Principal has surprised the Memorial Committee by electing to live in a wing of the building and to have his meals along with the boys. His idea is gradually to change the present Indian dining-room atmosphere into that of an officers' mess, so that the boys will be brought up to the life of an officer in the Indian Army. In the same way discipline will be the first consideration in the conduct of the school.

Cups for School.

That the Committee has been extraordinarily fortunate in their choice of a Principal in many ways may be judged from the fact that, within a few days of his appointment in England, he had secured two handsome solid silver cups for the school. A fine cup has also been presented by himself, and, according to present arrangements, will be for the best cadet in the school each year.

From Lord Riddell the Principal has received a cup which will probably be allocated to sport; as will the equally the cup given by the directorate of the magazine Super-man, with which Colonel Hutchinson has been connected.

Harry Preston, doyen of British boxing enthusiasts and a friend of the Prince of Wales, is sending out a fourth cup, to be allocated to boxing. Bishop's Halt School in Middelex, with which Colonel Hutchinson was connected, has announced that it will send out another cup, while one or two famous public schools are likely to link up with the Shivaji School by some similar gift.

THE OTTAWA CONFERENCE

REORGANISATION OF IMPERIAL TRADE.

[BRITISH WIRELESS SERVICE.]

Rosary, Aug. 26.

The conclusion of the Ottawa Conference marks the end of the most important phase in reorganisation of inter-Imperial trade but the task of putting into effect the agreements reached at the Ottawa discussions must involve the Government of Britain and the Dominions in heavy work during the next few weeks.

Meanwhile, the framework of economic relations within the Empire having been settled, it has become possible for the Government in Britain to proceed with efforts to promote Britain's world trade through negotiations with other powers for mutual reduction of tariffs.

Soon after Britain had decided to end the system of free imports, offers to open such negotiations were received from many Governments. A reply was returned that the time was not ripe for negotiations, as clearly the first task was to seek agreement with members of the British Commonwealth. The way is now clear, however, for such negotiations and The Times warmly welcomes the announcements that the Danish Government have made all necessary plans to proceed with discussions for a trade agreement and that the Argentine Ambassador is now on his way back to London, bringing with him concrete proposals for agreements mutually advantageous to Britain and the Argentine.

New Openings Abroad.

"There can be no doubt," the Times adds, "that most of the countries to whom the British market is an important one, will follow the example of Denmark and the Argentine and will show themselves eager to come to a fair arrangement for the encouragement of mutual trade, now that we are no longer willing to buy freely from those who refuse to buy from us."

The Times regards the efforts in which British Ministers have exhausted themselves at a series of international conferences since the war in an attempt to reduce tariff walls, until it began to be realised that the greatest service Britain could render to the cause of international trade was to abandon the system of one-side imports.

The Prime Minister, having flown from Lissieport yesterday, arrived at Waterloo Station just as the boat train from Southampton with four members of Britain's delegation to the Ottawa Conference drew alongside. Sir John Simon, who, in another aeroplane, had also flown to London from Lissieport, joined the Prime Minister's party, which included several members of the Cabinet.

His Majesty the King was represented by Lord Hampden and when the delegates, headed by Mr. Stanley Baldwin, alighted, there was a hearty exchange of greetings. Cheers which were raised for homecoming statesmen at the conclusion of their successful mission were warmly taken up by a large crowd assembled and these were renewed as the party drove off.

During the afternoon the Prime Minister met each of the delegates and to-day a meeting of the Cabinet was held for a more formal consideration of the work of what is likely to prove an historic Conference.

Pictureque Welcome.

Royal Air Force aeroplanes and flying boats circled round the Empire of Britain as the liner made her way up Southampton Water one hour before the scheduled time. Ships whistled and sirens in the waterway sounded a loud welcome as the vessel approached port, and the delegates chatted with officials and others who boarded the liner from a tender off the Isle of Wight.

Irish Question.

The Dominions Secretary, Mr. J. H. Thomas, told Press representatives that he believed the Conference had in every way been successful. Questioned regarding his conversations with the Irish Free State delegates, Mr. Thomas said he had many opportunities of discussing the difficulties with them and he had hoped that the proposals he made would have resulted in a settlement. If that had not been achieved, he added, he was sure he had cleared the ground for further discussion.

In these conversations he had acted with the complete concurrence of his colleagues at Ottawa, and although he had not deviated from the attitude assumed before the conference, he could hope that the door had been opened as the result of them for further discussion for a peaceful settlement of the outstanding differences.

Although the delegates were immediately approached by Press representatives for interviews both at Southampton and at Waterloo Station, they contented themselves with making general statements, and the first considered review of Ottawa will be made to-night in a broadcast speech by Mr. Baldwin. When at Southampton this morning his party was accorded a civic welcome by the Mayor and Mr. Baldwin responded with a brief speech.

He expressed deep appreciation for the cordiality of the welcome and added: "For ourselves I can say we have been a very happy and united team. We have, we think, done a useful bit of work, and if we have we shall be amply rewarded by the approval of our fellow countrymen."

Attitude of U.S.

[THROUGH REUTER'S AGENCY.]

New York, Aug. 27. Enough has already been learnt of the character of the Ottawa agreements to lead officials to predict that the United States Government will not find it necessary to take radical steps to meet the new conditions, according to the Washington correspondent of the New York Times.

The correspondent says that there seems to be no probability that the United States will resort to tariff increases or other retaliation under the Tariff Law.

HOW TO MAKE SALT

DEAR KIDDIES—

What is salt?—What a funny question you'll say; the average boy or girl will answer that "Salt" is a white stuff which we sometimes mistake for Sugar.

Actually, salt is one of the oldest of condiments; it exists in many substances. It is obtained from deposits in the earth, from salt-springs and from sea-water.

If you got some salt water (i.e., sea water) and boiled it—and kept on boiling it until all the water had boiled away, you would be left with a whitish-yellow substance which is salt.

Try this, and make your own salt!

Cheerio,
UNCLE JACK.

SCENT.

WHEN we wish to attract the attention of anybody, the usual method is to dress in our best, and wear a Sunday smile. That, dear juniors, is much the same method that Mother Nature uses to save her plants from extinction, for, as you probably know, without the assistance of various insects, which convey the flowers' pollen from one plant to another, the flowers would not be fertilised.

So, to ensure this, nature has decreed that flowers shall be scented or brightly coloured, for when the insect catches a breath of their delightful perfume or sees their colour, he flies into the heart of the flower and gathers its honey.

While he is at the bottom of the corolla tubes sucking the honey he becomes dusted with pollen and in this way, by passing from one flower to another, he ensures the preservation of the plants.

OUR CONTINUED STORY THE BALLOON BOY.

"THEN Edwin's to stay—to stay and go to school with me!" cried Paul.

Mr. Artley laughed at the excited pair.

"You two go off on a treasure hunt," he said. "There's a trail of bits of yellow paper with a treasure at the end. It starts down the lane."

The two boys raced away, wild with delight. They found the first scraps of paper and began their hunt.

It led them across fields and over fences. It went around the barn, and through the garden. Then it stopped at the garage door.

"This is the end of the trail!" said Paul.

Then they heard a rustle and whimper from inside the garage. In a minute they had opened the garage door, and there, tied in a corner, was a puppy, a capering fat collie puppy.

Edwin reached him first. As he hugged the squirming creature he felt something rustle on the puppy's collar. He looked down and found a card that bore these words:

I'm Edwin's puppy.
My name is Rob Roy.

Then Chum came running, and there was a wild chorus of shouts and yelps and barks. When they had all quieted down, Edwin drew a big sigh.

"A home out here with you!" he said. "A chance to go to a fine school. No more long hours selling papers. And—a dog of my own! Who would have thought!" he asked as he stroked Rob Roy's silky head. "That so much hung on the string of that little balloon!"

(THE END.)

Why, Ben!

Some years ago Benjamin Franklin was travelling in cold weather and saw no vacant place at the tavern fire where he could warm himself. He cried out the order: "Half a peck of oysters in the shell for my horse!"

"All the fireplace crowd rushed out to see a horse eat oysters. Soon they came back and told him his horse wouldn't eat oysters."

"Why," he asked Franklin, now comfortably seated by the fire, "Bring them in, then, and I'll eat them myself!"

LEGAL REMEDY.

Divorce is at last coming to Hong Kong, and one of the world's remaining strongholds against this process of law will thereby surrender. The measure outlined in the Government Gazette is drawn on cautious lines and there is no fear of the Colony becoming the San Remo of the Far East. A cynical suggestion has been made that any place in this part of the world that gave such facilities for a consideration, would be sure of a settled revenue, but nothing could be further from the minds of those who framed the carefully guarded measure that is to be submitted to the Legislative Council. Any petitioner in a "matrimonial cause" must have contracted either a Christian marriage, or the civil equivalent of a Christian marriage. There will, no doubt, be many a legal battle in our Courts over the precise meaning of "the civil equivalent of Christian marriage," and also, upon the delicate matter as to when a proselyte may be considered a Christian, within the legal meaning of the term. There are, for example, heretical sects, proclaiming their own orthodoxy but unanimously condemned by the recognized Churches. It will be a narrow way that leads to the Divorce Court, as constituted in Hong Kong, and, in keeping out unqualified petitioners our judges may be called to decide theological problems that have baffled Oecumenical Councils and provoked wars of religion.

To the ordinary man and woman of to-day the absence of divorce facilities in the local courts seems a senseless and out-of-date anomaly. A divorce can be obtained by taking evidence on commission, forwarding the depositions to a British solicitor and showing cause in the London Courts. The process is slow, cumbersome, expensive and not very sure. Why not settle the matter in Hong Kong? If our local judges and juries are capable of dealing with the life and death issue of a piracy or a murder trial, surely they can be trusted to settle the important, though less vital questions of divorce proceedings?

Until recently, however, the actual demand for divorce facilities has been small. It will, in fact, be interesting to see if, even now, there is a great company of persons seeking relief from their bonds. Most Europeans in difficulties of this kind have preferred to wait till Home leave came along to settle their grievances, but, if haste were necessary the alternative already mentioned was available. In the non-Christian communities divorce has been a family and personal matter in which the Government has seldom been called upon to intervene. A large proportion of the permanently resident community of the Christian religion belongs to the Roman Catholic Church, to whom divorce is forbidden as an article of faith. In recent years, however, the number of Europeans more or less permanently domiciled in Hong Kong has increased, and with their coming this extension of judicial powers has become inevitable. There are also cases of girls born and brought up in Hong Kong who have married foreigners and been ill-treated, deserted and given every possible reason for divorce. To women in such a position the bleak principle that "hard cases make bad law" is not much consolation.

The unpleasant prospect of European people airing their intimate troubles in a public court, with attendant loss of "face," possibly influenced the local government in their long delay in introducing divorce jurisdiction. It is only reasonable to suppose, however, that the English laws which limit reports of divorce proceedings in the Press to an announcement of the names of the parties concerned, the result, and the judge's summing up, will obtain in Hong Kong. Any impingement upon the publicity of court proceedings has grave disadvantages. In this matter, however, secrecy is the lesser of two evils. For several years Great Britain has been spared divorce court publicity of a kind that used to be intensely painful to the relatives of the parties concerned, undignifying to readers of newspapers, and to no small degree damaging to national prestige.

WAR PENSIONERS.

A RECENT official statement provided a reminder of the ravages and cost of war, and incidentally, showed that no country has done so much for disabled officers and men and their dependants as Great Britain. During the Great War a Ministry of Pensions was formed in London. Its objects were to provide pensions for the widows or next of kin of soldiers who lost their lives as a result of war service, and treatment with or without pension for disabled ex-service men. The pensions granted were generous, as may be judged from the fact that up to the present over £1,000 million has been paid on this account by the Government. It is estimated that the work of the Ministry will continue until 1960.

In 1921—the peak period of war pensions—there were 3,385,000 beneficiaries: to-day there are about 1,160,000. Annual payments in pensions now total approximately £200 millions. With each year the decline in expenditure is accelerated by the death of about 22,000 ex-service men, by children passing the pensionable age and by war-widows re-marrying. According to the latest figures the recipients of pensions are: 35,820 officers; 493,000 men; 1,025 widows; 137,750 widows; and 454,760 parents and other dependants. It is a curious fact that the number of war widows who re-marry each year remains constant around 2,000. During the last year about 20,000 soldiers disabled in the war received free medical and hospital treatment. The service for looking after the welfare of disabled ex-soldiers in Great Britain is thoroughly organized, and no reasonable expense is spared in the interests of the war victims.

"Whether you stay in England or go abroad, you will enjoy yourselves, but the man who marries early will not enjoy himself. In fact, he will have a bad time of it. He will be a nuisance to himself, to the squadron, and to the service. I most strongly advise you to leave that absolutely alone for another ten years or more."

New Ships for the Navy.

Orders for several of the smaller vessels in the 1931 new construction programme have recently been placed by the Admiralty, and the remaining ships are to be ordered shortly. Tenders are now being considered.

The 1931 programme has been held up for financial reasons. It provides for three cruisers, one flotilla leader and eight destroyers, four sloops, three submarines, and several small craft. The ships should have been laid down in the latter part of the last financial year.

All the destroyers, one cruiser, two submarines are to be built in private yards, and the remaining cruisers, sloop, and one submarine in Royal Dockyards. The vessels will probably be laid down in October and November.

Snake Causes Shipwreck.

A disaster which caused the death of over 100 persons occurred in extraordinary circumstances on the river at Kolapore, near Bombay.

A river steamer with 120 persons on board collided with a floating tree on which a snake had taken refuge. The reptile having climbed on board, the passengers fled to the other end of the ship, which capsized, and only 20 were rescued.

The Model Convict.

"Scarface" Capone, according to prisoners released from Atlanta Penitentiary, is a model convict and exercises a very beneficial influence upon the other inmates. He is employed in making shoes and wants Chicago to know that he is taking his "medicine" bravely.

He is called "the Big Fellow," and treated with the respect due to America's greatest racketeer. But Capone is also captain of the base ball team and sings in the choir. "The boys," he said, to some friends, "thought at first that I would high hat them, but I am not that sort of guy." In his spare time he is writing "Advice to Evil-Doers: How I achieved success," a work chiefly about "rackets." Capone insists that he was never a common criminal, describing himself as a former Red Cross worker, who brought beer to thirsty people. "I have finished with rackets," he says.

OFFICIAL STATEMENT BY SECRETARY FOR COLONIES

WHOLE COLONIAL EMPIRE TO CO-OPERATE

The Colonial Secretary, Hong Kong, has forwarded us the following telegram, dated August 28, from the Secretary of State for the Colonies in Canada to the Colonial Office, London, and transmitted to the Officer Administering the Government of Hong Kong.

"Now that the Imperial Conference has come to an end it is possible to inform you of the outcome of the negotiations which I have been conducting on behalf of the Colonial Empire. My objective was to secure increased trade from the Colonies to the rest of the Empire and to afford the rest of the Empire increased opportunities to sell to the Colonies. I have sought to obtain wider markets for Colonial products; firstly by securing adoption of the principle of reciprocity in those Dominions and India where preferences have not hitherto been granted to the Colonial Empire, and secondly by securing new or additional preferences wherever possible on those commodities which you advised were of most importance. All the Dominions and India have agreed on first principles and agreements which have been made to give effect to it. As regards particular commodities we have obtained preferential advantages for a large number of commodities which were suggested for such treatment. In the aggregate the new field of preferential trade thus opened is very considerable and though it has naturally not been possible to secure equal advantages for each individual dependency, I do not think even from the narrow point of view of its individual interest that any dependency has reason to complain that its interest has been overlooked. I take this opportunity of testifying to the cordiality and friendliness with which my requests on behalf of the Colonial Empire were received by the representative Dominions and India.

IMPERIAL CO-OPERATION

As you know, in putting forward my request on behalf of the Colonial Empire both before the conference met and during the conference, I invited the Dominions and India to suggest on their part what modification of existing Colonial preferences they desired to propose in order to increase their trade with the Colonies.

The Dominions and India have made a full survey of the possibility of developing their trade with the Colonies, and I am sure that the Colonies on their part will be ready and willing to accede to their proposals, not only as a reciprocal return for preferences received and offered, but also as an earnest of our common desire, to secure the fullest measure of Empire trade.

These proposals are the logical counterpart of the advantages the Colonies secure. In the first place as the Dominions and India now offer to the whole of the Colonial Empire any preferences given to the United Kingdom, they ask that those few dependencies which at present grant preferences to only certain parts of the Empire should extend them to all parts, and I feel sure that any adjustment of taxation which may be necessary to enable this to be done without prejudice to public revenue will readily be accepted by the Legislature.

PREFERENCES AND TARIFF CHANGES

In the second place, the Dominions and India have asked for the grant of new or increased preferences in certain special cases. I am sure the Legislature will gladly grant to countries of the Empire who have requested them those new preferences which will be particularly helpful in enabling them to promote their trade with the Colonial Empire.

The United Kingdom and Dominions will pass the legislation giving effect to the tariff change immediately their Parliaments meet—it is therefore most desirable that the change in the Colonial tariffs should be made as soon as possible, but not before the text of the actual agreement reaches you.

As regards publication, the United Kingdom will probably announce the chief preference the United Kingdom is giving to the Dominions, but it is not desired to publish precise details of the tariff change till introduced in the Colonies.

I conclude by assuring you how much I appreciate the assistance and encouragement which I have received from all the dependencies in our preparations for these negotiations, and how great a pleasure it has been to me personally to conduct them on your behalf. I am looking forward on my return to London to co-operating with the whole Colonial Empire in building up an increasing trade on the foundations which we have here laid.

CAN FACE FUTURE WITH HOPE

Rugby, Aug. 27. A meeting of the Cabinet Council took place at 10, Downing Street, to-day, the Prime Minister presiding.

The meeting began at 11 a.m. and at 12.30 p.m. adjourned for luncheon. It was continued in the afternoon.

The only absentees were Lord Hailsham and Sir Philip Cunliffe Lister who are still in Canada. Mr. Walter Runciman, who has not yet returned to England from the Ottawa Conference, and Sir John Gilmour who is in Scotland.

Newspapers naturally assume that in addition to the wide range of domestic business awaiting attention, the Ministers would to-day make a close survey of the results of the Ottawa Conference and give preliminary consideration to procedure to be adopted to give effect to the agreements reached.

Some of the necessary steps will probably involve fresh legislation. Parliament at present stands adjourned for the summer recess, but is due to reassemble on October 27. Meanwhile, departmental officials are already closely engaged in perfecting the machinery necessary for implementing the policy of the Government of which the Ottawa decisions now form a part.

In their general survey of the work of the conference delegates, who arrived in England yesterday, confidently assert that it represents an important advance and registers a degree of success far beyond anything that was expected before they left England. It is, however, recognised that a general return of confidence among traders and purchasers still remains the essential need of the present situation. In their view, however, the success of the conference has an important bearing on the broader questions, and in particular, on the prospects of the approaching world economic conference. The ability of the British Commonwealth to influence that conference they state would have been weakened, if not destroyed, by failure to progress towards a solution of the Commonwealth's own economic problems. Their statement proceeds: "As it is we can face the future with hope. Events of this year show that we have moved away from the area of deep depression that has for so long clouded our horizon.

The Lausanne Conference marked the first stage. The amazing success of the conversion loan was the next. Now it has come to the Ottawa Conference to take its place in the sequence of our forward march. With this inspiration widespread as it will be throughout world, we shall proceed with the fullest confidence that the world economic conference will form a fitting conclusion to a year of solid and substantial advance towards better times."

U.S. FINANCIAL CRISIS

"ANTI-DEPRESSION CAMPAIGN" OPENS

[THROUGH REUTER'S AGENCY.]

WASHINGTON, Aug. 28. "WE are convinced that we can overcome the major financial crisis," declared President Hoover to-day in the course of his speech at the opening of the "Anti-Depression Conference."

The conference is being attended by business and industrial leaders of the twelve Federal Reserve Districts, and it is understood that President Hoover will present to them a new industrial plan, which will include provision for a five-day week for workers.

The agenda also includes discussion of a programme for a wide expansion of credit facilities, and for the repair and maintenance of railways.

Saving Mortgaged Property.

President Hoover announced at the outset that the Receivers of the National Banks have been ordered to suspend for sixty days foreclosures threatened on mortgages held by the banks, and State authorities have been asked to take similar steps to delay foreclosures by the State Banks.

He also announced that a new Home Loan banking system, which will have at its disposal some $313,000,000 will be operating as from October 15.

LONDON, Aug. 27. THE Radio exhibition at Olympia was visited yesterday morning by the Postmaster-General, Sir Kingsley Wood, who inspected the apparatus installed by the Post Office to assist in the cutting out of interference with reception.

ALLEGED IMPRUDENT DRIVING

MRS. BARNEY TO ATTEND FRENCH COURT

[THROUGH REUTER'S AGENCY.]

NICE, Aug. 27. MRS. ELVIRA BARNEY, who was acquitted on a charge of murdering her lover recently in London, faces another serious charge to-day. She is to appear for allegedly imprudent driving, as a consequence of which her car collided with another.

The Countess Caroline Karolyi of Austria was riding in the second machine and was seriously injured as a result of the crash.

The trial will take place at the town of Grasse, near which the accident occurred. It was on the Nice-Cannes Road that the collision occurred. The Countess's car was thrown 80 feet and Mrs. Barney's plunged into a telegraph pole. Her companion, a young man, was badly cut and shaken.

MISSING AIRMEN

YOUNG AMERICANS FEARED LOST IN ATLANTIC

[THROUGH REUTER'S AGENCY.]

OSLO, Aug. 27. CONSIDERABLE anxiety is felt at the entire absence of news of the two young American airmen, Clyde Lee and John Bodison, who left Harbour Grace on August 25 in an attempt to fly the Atlantic. It is feared that their petrol was exhausted at 1 a.m. to-day. The fliers announced their intention of landing at Oslo.

A proposal by the San Francisco health officer that unclaimed found dogs and cats be turned over to medical colleges for experimental purposes met with such opposition at a meeting of the board of supervisors here that the subject was referred back to a committee. Approximately 300 telegrams and letters protesting the move were opened by clerks. The meeting chamber was thronged with persons opposed to vivisection, and for more than an hour plans were condemned. The proposal was "adjourned."

COTTON STRIKE BEGINS

200,000 WEAVERS "WALK OUT"

[THROUGH REUTER'S AGENCY.]

LONDON, Aug. 27. THE STRIKE OF TWO HUNDRED THOUSAND COTTON WEAVERS IN LANCASHIRE AGAINST THE REDUCTION IN WAGES AND FOR THE REINSTATEMENT OF THE MEN WHO STRUCK EARLIER AGAINST THE ABROGATION OF THE AGREEMENTS, BEGAN AT NOON TO-DAY.

NEGOTIATIONS BREAK DOWN

LONDON, Aug. 26. Hopes for the settlement of the dispute between cotton industry workers and their employers faded last night with the complete collapse of negotiations between the two parties. The Cotton Conference, between the employers and operatives' organisations has been proceeding at Manchester for three days past, with a view to preventing a stoppage in the weaving section, where 200,000 and more are employed in various plants. The strike is scheduled to commence to-day.

In view of the failure of the Cotton Conference at Manchester, it appears nothing can prevent a strike of 200,000 weavers called for to-day. They are protesting against wage cuts and demanding reinstatement of men who struck against the system of more looms per weaver.

The Spinners' Trade Union rejected their employers' proposal of wage cuts of two shillings nine pence in the pound, and thus brought to a head the dispute between the mill owners and themselves. The spinners' organisations are prepared to ballot members immediately as to whether the wage cuts should be accepted or the executive be empowered to negotiate. The employers' notice of reduction has still three weeks to run. Well over 200,000 spinners are involved in the dispute.

FORMER SHANGHAI RESIDENT VICTIMISED

[THROUGH REUTER'S AGENCY.]

LONDON, Aug. 27. BURGLARS to-day stole from Llynsey Park, the residence of Lord Piddington, at present Governor-General of New Zealand, several racing and presentation cups, valued at £200. The cups are the property of Mr. P. W. O. Liddell, a former Shanghai resident. The stolen trophies include a cup presented at Shanghai by the Commander-in-Chief and officers of the China Squadron.

SWATOW NEWS.

ANOTHER SINO-JAPANESE INCIDENT.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

SWATOW, Aug. 25. After a lapse of a few months another Sino-Japanese incident has occurred. A Chinese inspector of the Stamp Duty Department without any warrant whatsoever walked into the premises of a Formosan Chinese and searched the account books, documents, etc., of his firm. He discovered that no revenue stamps had been affixed to receipts and the like by this firm and which was required of the Chinese generally. Consequently the Formosan was arrested and taken to the Public (Continued at foot of next column.)

FRANCE AGREES WITH JAPAN?

"ATTITUDE TOWARDS MANCHURIA SURPRISING"

[THROUGH REUTER'S AGENCY.]

LONDON, August 27. THE attitude of the French Press towards Manchuria is, to say the least of it, "surprising," declares the Manchester Guardian in a leading article to-day, "especially considering that the tendency of French post-war foreign policy was to support the League."

"How the change came about is unknown, but there are rumours of secret agreements by which France has agreed to support the Japanese view at the League, in return for Japanese support at the Disarmament Conference. It is also beyond question that the Sino-Japanese dispute gave an impetus to the French armament industry, which has considerable newspaper interest. Be that as it may, a large section of the French Press continues to speak with the voice of Tokyo."

MAY ABOLISH EXTRA-TERRITORIALITY

WASHINGTON, Aug. 27. Eager to gauge the possible effect of Japan's projected recognition of Manchukuo, the United States is watching for the terms of agreement. One possibility considered by American officials is that the treaty will abolish extra-territoriality.

RUTHLESS BOMBING ALLEGED

JAPANESE ATTACKS IN JEHO

CHINESE reports published here accuse the Japanese military authorities of causing heavy loss of life and great material damage as the result of continuous bombing raids carried out against villages and towns in Jehol, outside the Great Wall, on Japanese suspicion that they are harbouring Volunteers.

AIR MAIL PLANE HELD UP.

BAD WEATHER DELAYS TRIAL FLIGHT TO RUSSIA.

Nanking, Aug. 22.—Progress of the aeroplane, Eurasia No. 5, now on a trial flight to Sinkiang for the Shanghai-Berlin Airway, has been considerably impeded as a result of unfavourable weather in Sinkiang, according to telegraphic reports received from Mr. Lao Kuan Yuan, Director of the Transportation Department of the Eurasia Aviation Corporation, at Suchow, Kansu.

The plane which took off at Peiping on the 10th, reached Sian the same day. After several days' delay due to bad weather conditions, it took off on the 17th for Lanchow, Kansu, and for Suchow on the 20th, from where the latest reports were despatched. Storms are of frequent occurrence in Sinkiang and render flying very hazardous. Mr. Lao states. He is at present studying conditions there in order to solve these difficulties, and his return, therefore, may be considerably behind schedule.

EURASIA MAIL PLANE CRASHES

PEIPING-EUROPE FLIGHT MEETS WITH DISASTER

[THROUGH REUTER'S AGENCY.]

PEIPING, Aug. 27. THE Eurasia plane which left Peiping last Thursday to establish a new mail route to Europe crashed two hundred miles beyond Lanchow, Kansu, yesterday. All the occupants escaped without injury, but the plane was completely wrecked.

Safety Bureau for examination. By this time the Japanese Consul was informed, who sent out two officials to protect and to demand his subject's immediate release, making it plain that the arrest was most unjustified apart from the searching of the premises without permission being illegal. The Police headquarters naturally realised the position and by afternoon of the same day of the arrest the Formosan was "extradited" and released. Thus the incident closed.

FLOOD FEARS IN SHANTUNG

SUDDEN RISE OF YELLOW RIVER

[THROUGH REUTER'S AGENCY.]

PEIPING, Aug. 28. GREAT alarm has been caused in Shantung by the sudden rise of the Yellow River, which is now nine inches above the rails on the railway bridge near Tzianan. A further rise is feared and there is great anxiety as to whether the dykes are capable of holding back the water.

HARBIN FLOODS SUBSIDING.

TWO WEEKS BEFORE STREETS ARE CLEAR.

CHOLERA BREAKS OUT IN ALL REFUGEE CAMPS.

HARBIN, August 21.—The floods are slowly subsiding but it will be at least a fortnight before the streets are clear. At present the streets are full of stagnant water and it is impossible to pump out the basements of houses with the result that a veritable bogland has been created. Several houses have cracked and some have collapsed.

The stench in the streets is terrible and vermin and accumulated refuse have contaminated the drinking water. Temporary barracks are being erected to house the refugees but there are still 15,000 people without shelter. The Russian population of Pristan has been principally housed in New Town and a relief committee has been formed and is distributing food.

Many people remain in the attics of their homes in order to keep guard on their property for there have been many cases of robbery. Swift justice is being meted out to robbers who are shot instantly.

Cholera has broken out at every refugee camp and the total number of cases up to the present exceeds 1,000, of which about 100 are Russians. Signs of typhus, scarletina and smallpox have appeared adding to the danger of the situation. Disinfectants are scarce. Everybody is willing to give his money and supplies. At Poochiatien, conditions are reported to be much worse than at Pristan with an enormous percentage of deaths. The general prospects are terrible.

Breaks in Grand Canal.

PEIPING, August 21.—The floods in southern Chihli are still causing considerable anxiety, there being a considerable breach in the banks of the Grand Canal.

The Taching and Chulung rivers have also overflowed their banks, inundating large tracts of cultivated land. If the waters continue to rise several other districts will be threatened with disaster and feverish efforts are being made by hordes of workers to strengthen the dykes at the points of danger.

Railway Bridge Threatened.

HARBIN, Aug. 21.—Rain is again falling and as a result the Sungari is again rising slightly, being two inches higher while the flood waters in Harbin have consequently risen. The Harbin bridge is again being threatened and it is admitted that one span is now in a precarious condition. Railway communication remains as before, trains running to Tsitsihar on the west, to Ashio on the east and a few miles south of Harbin.

The floods are indirectly the cause of some trouble in the local gaol. When the Poochiatien gaol was flooded some prisoners from there were brought to the Harbin gaol resulting in a certain amount of overcrowding. The imprisoned terrorists are now on hunger strike, demanding an interview with the Soviet consul and an early trial. They complain that they get insufficient exercise, that they are overcrowded and that conditions generally are unsatisfactory.

TREASURES SOLD IN PEIPING

FUNDS TO BE DEVOTED TO REPAIR MUSEUM

[THROUGH REUTER'S AGENCY.]

PEIPING, Aug. 27. A REMARKABLE sale of old tea, medicines, furs and silks took place in the Palace Museum of the Forbidden City and realised over $900,000, which will be devoted to the repair of the Museum Buildings.

Special measures are being taken to protect these treasures, and they will be deposited in waterproof vaults as a precaution against fire.

FROM CHINESE NEWSPAPERS.

Precautionary measures are being taken by the Taiyuanfu Government, on account of outbreak of cholera. The Medical Department reported 8,000 deaths over the week-end.

It is learned from reliable local sources that Mr. Sun Fo will leave Shanghai within this week.

A joint petition has been submitted to the Canton Government by the local theatres asking for a further decrease of tax.

"Dumping rubbish on the streets is strictly prohibited" reads a notice which has been issued by the Canton Sanitary Department and is seen everywhere in the City. Fines of $2, $5 and $10 will be imposed on offenders.

A report has been made to the Canton Harbour Department that a number of fishing junks in South-cm Macao waters were caught by the recent typhoon, capsized and sunk, it is said that over 130 lives were lost.

General Wong Shiu Hung, Acting Minister of Communications arrived in Wuchow last Friday, and was greeted by a large number of military and civil officials including General Pei Huang Hai, Vice-Commander-in-Chief of the 4th Route Army.

News has been received from Shanghai that a personal visit was paid to General Chen Ming Shu by General Tsai Ting Kai at the latter's residence at Shanghai. After a long discussion, General Chen Ming Shu was urged to proceed to Fukien immediately to take up an important post.

After nearly three months' strike, all restaurants in Kungmoon have resumed business.

A Swatow paper states that a number of gangsters were arrested near Swatow on charges of robbing and kidnapping. They were all sentenced to death and shot the same day.

A strong protest has been despatched to the Mayor of Tientsin by the Japanese Consul-General demanding immediate abolition of all "Anti-Japanese Societies" in Tientsin. It is understood that the local Government has handed over this matter to the Nanking authorities, and asked them to reply to the Consul-General.

A Jehol telegram states that five Japanese bombing planes were seen flying over the vicinity of Jehol and a number of bombs dropped. It is reported that nine soldiers were killed and many injured.

A statement will be made to-day (August 29) by Mr. Lo Wen Kan, Foreign Minister at Nanking, on "Japan's Policy in Manchuria."

Mr. Chang Chi, one of the prominent officials of the Nanking Government, returned to Nanking yesterday from Peiping and will report to the Government on the "Jehol situation."

An emergency meeting of the "Chinese Anti-Internal War Association" was held on Saturday at the premises of the Chinese Chamber of Commerce in Shanghai. Over 600 representatives attended.

Marshal Chiang Kai Shek wired the Nanking Judicial Yuan from Hankow, suggesting that heavy punishment be awarded to Hu Li-fu, the head of the Chapei "puppet" administration, who was arrested in Shanghai recently.

The Shanghai-Hankow mail plane, "Anking," crashed last Friday near Chinkiang river, but no casualties were reported and little damage was done to the plane.

It is rumoured that a large consignment of Japanese ammunition and war material has been transported to Peiping from Tientsin.

A sum of $30,000 has been remitted to the Canton-Hankow Railway by the Ministry of Railways from Nanking, being part payment of railway allowances for the month of August.

New postage stamps have been issued by the Nanking Government bearing the photographs of Messrs. Chu Chup Shun, Sung Kiew An, Wong Hing and Liao Chung Kai, four of the seventy-four heroes.

A Nanking paper states that an observatory is to be built in Nanking and work has already begun. It is reported that it will be completed this year.

There were 169 cases of cholera in Nanking during the week-end, and 17 deaths.

YORKSHIRE AGAIN CHAMPIONS.

SUSSEX'S 'GALLANT BUT UNAVAILING STRUGGLE.

LEYLAND'S SPARKLING INNINGS: SUTCLIFFE HEADS LIST OF CENTURIANS.

LONDON, Aug. 27.

For the second year in succession, Yorkshire has won the County Cricket Championship by defeating Hampshire at Bourne-mouth by 172 runs.

The tussle for Championship honours was keenly fought right up to the death-knock, when Sussex, who were occupying second position on the list, put up an unsuccessful attempt to gain full points against Essex in their engagement at Eastbourne. Their first innings win was not enough to get them within striking distance of Yorkshire, who are now in an unassailable position at the top of the table.

This victory gives them the County Championship for the fifteenth time in the history of the Club. With such wealth of talent as Sutcliffe, Leyland, Bowes and Verity, combined with excellent team work, it would have been most extraordinary if the team did not finish high up in the Championship table.

Consistent Play.

Their displays throughout the entire season have been remarkably consistent, as the points scored will show.

Of the twenty-seven matches played, eighteen were won outright and two were lost; three were won on the first innings, one was lost on the first innings and in the remaining three matches no decision was arrived at. Total points scored were 350 out of a possible 315.

Detailed results of all matches, together with table of County Championship points, and list of leading century makers follow:—

COUNTY CHAMPIONSHIP.

Middlesex (573) beat Leicester (579-6 dec. and 54-1) on 1st innings at Lord's.

Derbyshire (374) beat Somerset (244 and 233-8) on 1st innings at Taunton.

Glamorgan (502) beat Notts (380 and 163-6) on 1st innings at Cardiff.

Warwick (353 and 154-3) beat Worcester (234 and 390) on 1st innings at Worcester.

Surrey (384 and 205-5 dec.) beat Northants (328 and 324-4) on 1st innings at the Oval.

Gloucester (614) beat Lancashire (248 and 157-7) on 1st innings at Liverpool.

Yorkshire (507 and 193-5) beat Hampshire (174 and 109) by 172 runs at Bourne-mouth.

Sussex (520) beat Essex (321 and 76-2) on 1st innings at Eastbourne.

TABLE TO DATE.

K.C.C. TENNIS TOURNAMENT.

RAIN PREVENTS START.

ELASTIC PROGRAMME ARRANGED NOW.

[By SALADIN.]

The Kowloon Cricket Club fortnight tennis tournament scheduled to start on Saturday was not favoured with good weather, so that no play took place during the week-end. Nevertheless, the organisers have re-drawn up a smart programme, which will not be upset by rain though it might be delayed and by which it is still hoped to complete the tournament on the date originally fixed, September 10, provided a start can be made to-morrow or at latest on Wednesday. The scheme is to divide the programme into a series of eight matches each. So far five series have been drawn up. Play will commence on the first fine day, and the series will follow one after another in per order below.

Eight courts will now be opened to speed the tournament up. Times for play are as follows:—

Week-days:—One series, commencing not later than 5.15 p.m.

Saturdays:—Two series, commencing at 3.15 p.m. sharp and immediately a first series match is finished, a second series match will follow on the same court, about 4.15.

Sundays:—Four series, two each in the morning and afternoon. Commencement in the morning at 10 sharp, and about 11.15. In the afternoon, the order will be the same as for Saturdays.

Monday, September 3, being a holiday, it is probable that matches will be played as scheduled for Sundays. This, however, will depend upon the progress made during the week.

The programme follows:—

FIRST SERIES.

Senior Championship.

Hambly v. E. F. Fincher.
Guest v. Hung.
Burnett v. F. Kengelbacker.

Junior Championship.

E. R. Price v. Old.
Lubeseder v. P. O. Dunne.
Huber v. C. Kengelbacker.
Skinner v. Mackay.
F. S. W. Smith v. Ohl.

SECOND SERIES.

Junior Championship.

R. S. Capell v. L. Jack.
W. M. Gittins v. Philippens.
White v. J. S. Smith.

Handicap Doubles.

Hung and E. Zimmermann v. Dinnen and Buchanan.
C. Kengelbacker and Rakusen v. F. Kengelbacker and Lubeseder.
A. E. Collins and Hambly v. Mackay and Guest.

J. S. Smith and L. Jack v. Huber and Haase.
S. A. Gray and Barnett v. Dunne and D. S. Green.

THIRD SERIES.

"Y.M.C.A." BEATEN IN CANTON.

SWIMMERS HAVE ENJOYABLE COMPETITION.

A very enjoyable swimming gala was held in Shamen on Saturday when the Y.M.C.A. met the Shamen Swimming Club in a series of competitions. The events were closely contested and although the home team won, the local side gave a good account of itself and carried off both the team race and the water polo.

B. Rasmussen swam well for the home team by securing the first place for both the two lengths and the four lengths free style races. E. Penfield won the breast and the back stroke's.

The Y.M.C.A. through Garrod, won the plunge, and W. F. Kerr got first place in the competition for throwing the water polo ball.

The results were as follows:—

2 Lengths Free Style.—1, B. Rasmussen (Shamen).
100 Yards Free Style.—1, B. Rasmussen (Shamen).
Throwing Polo Ball.—1, W. F. Kerr (Y.M.C.A.).

HOW JOHNSTONE WAS BEATEN.

THRILLING RACE OVER "220."

RAVEN'S RECORD BREAKING SWIM DESCRIBED.

The North China Daily News gives the following description of how "Jimmy" Johnstone was beaten over the 220 yards free style in Shanghai on August 20 at the Shanghai Rowing Club. The race went to O. H. Raven in the record time of 2 minutes 38.9 seconds.

In the 220 yd. J. R. Johnstone, the previous record holder, put up a great display, and took the lead at the start. He went out to a yard's advantage over Raven at the first turn and was increasing this all the way, being five yards ahead at the turn for the fourth length.

In the middle of the fourth length, Raven commenced to spurt and gradually overcame the lead. He came up level in the middle of the fifth length and at the turn into the sixth the two were fighting for the lead.

Raven's extra stamina stood him in good stead and he went ahead to turn three yards ahead of Johnstone, and in the final burst Raven came in to break the record. Jack Doughty came with a great spurt towards the end to beat Fingoreth for third place.

REVENUE FALL IN AMERICA.

$871,000,000 REDUCTION DURING LAST YEAR.

SENATOR BORAH'S PLEA FOR CURRENCY EXPANSION.

Washington, August 22.—Striking evidence of the effects of the world trade depression on the United States is afforded by the decrease in the country's internal revenue returns for the fiscal year ending June 30, issued here to-day. The figures show that the revenue for the year just ended totalled $31,557,000,000 as compared with $32,428,000,000 for the previous year.

This heavy decline is chiefly due to a shrinkage in income tax receipts, which only amounted to $1,036,000,000 compared with $1,880,000 for the previous year.

Raising Price Levels.

Washington, Aug. 21.—Currency expansion should be resorted to by the United States to avoid "chaos and disaster," Senator William E. Borah of Idaho declared to-day. His argument was virtually the same as the "free coinage of silver" programme of the late William Jennings Bryan.

The $31,000,000,000 expansion authorized under the Home Loan Bank Bill "is a start toward the honest dollar" but should be only the beginning, Senator Borah said. He declared that there could be much further expansion without endangering the nation's monetary system.

"The definition of an honest dollar," he said, "is merely a dollar which can be purchased by the same quantity of commodities to-day as upon some agreed previous date. An honest dollar is a stable dollar which, when nominated in a contract, does not accentuate the value of that contract by the mere lapse of time."

Huge Army of Unemployed.

New York, Aug. 21.—The magazine, "Fortune," in a comprehensive survey of the economic situation in the United States, declares that nearly 25,000,000 persons in America will be dependent upon public relief during the coming winter.

According to figures gathered by "Fortune's" editors, no less than 11,000,000 persons are now unemployed, this estimate topping even the most gloomy statements of the American Federation of Labour and other workmen's organizations. The experts employed by the journal describe the relief programme of President Herbert Hoover as being "both wasteful and uneconomic."

Hesitant Handling.

Washington, Aug. 21.—After opening unusually early, the presidential election campaign already is getting into full swing. Of the two most-discussed issues, both parties show a disposition to centre on economic recovery, leaving prohibition aside for the present.

The Democrats are seeking to drive home a charge that President Hoover's handling of the depression has been hesitant and blundering, and was in the interest of the rich and powerful.

The Republicans are picturing Governor Franklin Roosevelt as weak, vague, and given to radical predictions, and are presenting the Democrat nominee for the vice-presidency, Speaker Garner, as dependable and dangerous. Quietly both sides are firing with the organized groups of public farmers.

opinion on the "wet" and "dry" issue. The disposition in some of the prohibition societies is to support President Hoover, and the disposition in some of the anti-prohibition societies is to support Governor Roosevelt, but opinion is divided and the chances of solidarity at the ballot-box are uncertain.

On the side of territorial strategy, neither party seems convinced that any section of the country is definitely lost to it. The Democrats, who have put their first faith in the South and West, are preparing to contest the East, also, some even favouring a real campaign in Pennsylvania, usually staunchly Republican. The Republicans plan to go into such states as Georgia, Mississippi and South Carolina, which stood firm when others of the Southern Democratic phalanx swung to Hoover in 1924.

Mr. Hoover Criticised.

Columbus (Ohio), Aug. 21.—Mr. Franklin D. Roosevelt severely criticised yesterday, in an electoral speech, the declaration of President Hoover accusing Europe of being, to a large extent, responsible for the depression prevailing in the United States.

Mr. Roosevelt attacked the economic administration of the present Government and the republican movement. He especially denounced the Hawley-Smoot tariff, which, he said, "caused the disappearance of American products from foreign markets and reduced the profits of farmers."

£1,200 AWARDED FOR LOSS
OF SALARY.

London, July 27.—A special jury in the King's Bench Division awarded £1,200 damages for loss of salary to Miss Clara Evelyn, the actress and singer, whose name in private life is Miss Clara Evelyn Smith.

Defendants were the Coliseum Syndicate Ltd. and Sir Oswald Stoll.

All the questions left to the jury by Mr. Justice Acton were answered in favour of Miss Evelyn. His lordship postponed entering judgment until after hearing legal arguments at a later date.

Miss Evelyn claimed damages for breach of an agreement to engage her as principal to play the leading part of Josephine in the musical play, "White Horse Inn" at the Coliseum.

The questions left for the jury's decision were—

"AFTER TO-MORROW."

NEXT CHANGE AT THE KING'S.

A trade notice states:—
"After To-morrow," Fox Film version of the Broadway stage success of the same name opens its local engagement on Wednesday at the King's Theatre.

Charles Farrell and Marian Nixon are to be seen in the leading roles of the picture, as the romantic young sweethearts whose marriage is constantly frustrated by the opposition of their parents, and selfish mothers. Rather than to go against their parents' wishes, they seek emotional relief in a blind trust in the future, that "After To-morrow," life promises to be bright.

Minna Gombell, as the mother of Miss Nixon, is said to give the greatest performance of her screen career, in a characterization that calls for her to deny love for her own daughter, a performance which even surpasses her unforgettable "Edna" in "Bad Girl."

The conflict arises from the fact that she is married to a weak and ineffectual husband, played by William Collier, Sr., who has never been able to supply her with the pretties demanded by her vanity.

As Farrell's mother, Josephine Hull brings to the film drama the same rôle she created on the New York stage. Her deft impersonation of the comely yet sometimes pitiable little Ma Piper, is reported as lending much of the human appeal and mirthful qualities which "After To-morrow" possesses.

In the other important rôles are William Pawley, Ferdinand Munier and Nora Lane.

"THE OUTSIDER."

PROBLEM FILM AT THE KING'S.

"The Outsider," which started yesterday at the King's Theatre, is one of the most interesting films we have had for a long while. For those of us who come from England, the facts that the film comes also from there, that lovely Joan Barry is the heroine, that a very fine actor, Norman McKinnel, plays her father, and that there is throughout a typically English atmosphere, will be a recommendation, but I believe that all but the most frivolous will find an interesting question propounded, but not answered, on the screen.

The situation is this: The daughter of a famous surgeon has been a cripple from birth, and is considered incurable. A foreigner with a bombastic manner and no degree demands admission to the Royal College of Surgeons, and is treated with slight consideration by the committee of surgeons who examine his claim. The "Outsider" manages to persuade the crippled girl to put herself in his hands for treatment, although her father is bitterly opposed to her taking such a risk. That the "outsider" makes good his claim is a part of the story but not of the problem.

Show has, in "The Doctors Dilemma," drawn the picture of the doctor who refuses to examine the possibilities of treatments of which he does not recognise the validity, and even when the doctors are drawn with G.B.S.'s malicious pen, one cannot but see that there is much to be said for their attitude. But "The Outsider" approaches the problem of the unqualified medical man from another angle, that of the parents of the patient. Has anyone the right to refuse to his child the chance of health, because of a fear that matters may be made worse instead of better? Yet has one the right to decide in favour of an experiment which may have tragic consequences if it fails?

We most of us have a sneaking belief that doctors, like their prototypes in the African jungle, are a close fraternity which hates and fears the heresy of those practising outside their own brotherhood. That belief need not detract in the least from our admiration of a body of unselfish and hard-working men.

Time and again, treatments studiously upheld for years as necessary and right have been suddenly reversed in the light of new knowledge. Science progresses, marvelous new cures are discovered, the "outsider" may be working on the right lines though he has not approached his conclusion through the regular channels.

Yet one feels the unqualified man is a menace; one has perhaps the right to risk one's own life in the cause of experiment, but hardly that of one's child. Dr. Sturdee was right, unless one considers that his daughter was of an age when she should make the decision for herself.

The acting of "The Outsider" is extraordinarily good throughout and the story tragic and intense in its telling. Joan Barry Harold Huth (as the unqualified doctor) and Norman McKinnel, seem to live their parts and the interest never flags for a moment.

"The Outsider" is a film you should see and one which you will not quickly forget.

"MATA HARI."

COMING ATTRACTION AT QUEEN'S.

A trade notice states:—
The greatest honour of his long career came to Lionel Barrymore while he was playing the part of the Russian military attaché in "Mata Hari" with Greta Garbo and Ramon Novarro. It was during the making of the new Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer production that Barrymore was singled out by the Academy of Motion Picture Arts and Sciences as having achieved the outstanding masculine performance of the year for his work in "A Free Soul."

Barrymore shared honours with Marie Dressler in receiving the academy statuette at the annual banquet, presided over by Vice-President Charles Curtis and other national dignitaries. According to preview critics, his performance in "Mata Hari," which opens on Thursday at the Queen's Theatre, is equally impressive.

"LOVERS COURAGEOUS."

POIGNANT DRAMA AT THE QUEEN'S.

"Lovers Courageous," which opened yesterday at the Queen's Theatre, is a charming and poignant story which forms a perfect vehicle for Robert Montgomery, whose portrayal of an Englishman is thoroughly convincing. From the pen of the celebrated English dramatist, Frederick Lonsdale, the tale is one of youth and romance, a tender and touching narrative, not lacking in typical Lonsdale humour.

Not the least important in the sparkling film is the appearance opposite Montgomery of Madge Evans, erstwhile child star. A very capable actress, Miss Evans seemed quite at home in her rôle as the British aristocrat, who dared to defy convention and follow her heart to the attic rooms of the struggling author.

The story is about a young Englishman who finds home life incompatible with his ambitions. He runs away and becomes a failure in every job he tackles. He finally finds employment in a tobacco shop. There he meets the daughter of a British admiral. When their interest in one another is discovered, the girl is dispatched home to England to hasten her wedding to a titled baronet. On the eve of the wedding, however, she goes to the youth she really loves.

They defy all parental wrath and face the future together, relying on a nearly finished play to win bread and shelter for them. Things go from bad to worse. To spare his bride further sufferings, the youth sends her to her parents' home, accepting their demand that he never see her again. The play becomes a hit and he reaps the long-awaited fruits of success. There is a reunion, and we hope they live happily ever after.

"RICH MAN'S FOLLY."

MELODRAMA AT ORIENTAL.

A trade notice states:—
According to George Bancroft, star of Paramount's exciting industrial melodrama, "Rich Man's Folly," which is now showing at the Oriental Theatre only the most essential workers were taken on the location trip across the continent from Hollywood to the Bethlehem shipyards at Quincy, Mass.

The party making the trip, included the actors necessary for the scenes to be taken; John Cromwell, the director; Edward Parmore, Jr., co-author of the screen play; George Nichols, film editor, and Archie Hill, business manager. The party was augmented by workers taken from the Paramount-New York studio which included the camera crew, electricians, property men, sound recorders, and all their necessary equipment.

The film editor's duty was to visualize the edited film as it would appear on the screen. He worked largely as an assistant to the director.

The business manager's duty was to handle all money, pay the expenses of the troupe, the salaries of the workers and to act as liaison officer in securing special concessions for the filming of scenes that interfered with the normal activities of the shipbuilding plant.

Motion pictures of a great industrial plant are always interesting and sometimes thrilling. The photography in "Rich Man's Folly" is extraordinary. Some of the scenes are thrilling, particularly the one showing the launching of the great steamship, Mariposa.

LINERS DELAYED.

HEAVY WEATHER ALONG COAST.

Terrible weather conditions in the China and Eastern seas were responsible for the late arrival of several vessels during the week-end. The P. and O. liner s.s. Ranpura and the Dollar liner s.s. President Jefferson both arrived many hours late after experiencing fog, heavy rain and raging seas which accompanied them throughout the entire journey from Shanghai.

One officer of the s.s. Ranpura stated that the conditions were about as bad as anything he had experienced on this part of the coast. After leaving Shanghai on the Tuesday, anchor had to be dropped in the river the same evening at 7 p.m. On Wednesday the ship put out to sea, and from then on everything that a sailor dreads was experienced. Nearing Hong Kong the ship encountered dense fog and this further delayed her arrival.

S.S. President Jefferson.

When the s.s. President Jefferson, eventually anchored in Kowloon bay, she was displaying unmistakable traces of the storm she had been through. The white paint-work on the upper of her hull was dirty and streaked with rust, while her winch gear was in no better condition.

Passengers hardly ventured out on the open deck during the whole voyage.

BARON CARD-SHARPER.

HARD LABOUR AND A PLANK BED

Vienna.—There were tense moments at the trial here of Baron Otto Guttman, who was convicted of repeated card-sharping at Vienna's two most exclusive clubs, the Wiener Club and the Wiener Cercle.

He was sentenced to 12 months' hard labour and to sleep on a plank bed once a month for bacarat swindling.

The baron's guilt, the judge said, could not be doubted, because, though a nobleman and a cavalry officer, he had accepted without protest his expulsion from the two clubs and also from a third.

The trial lasted five days. Baron Henry Menasse, described by the judge as old man and a fanatical gambler who lived on his wife's means, was charged with Guttman, but his trial was postponed.

Two club servants also charged were each sentenced to six months' hard labour.

The Upper 200.

The judge said that a successful prosecution had been made possible only by the suicide of Dr. Loewy, a physician, and his wife when the scandal became known, and by the flight of the ringleader, Georg von Berceviy, who had deluded Dr. Loewy and others with so-called astrological guidance.

The members of the two clubs concerned, added the judge, composed Vienna's Upper 200 Hundred, and those called as witnesses had been obviously reluctant to give evidence.

Guttman was ordered to pay the costs of the prosecution.

The Public Prosecutor said he had been surprised to find that the witnesses did not seem to draw a firm line between themselves and Guttman, but showed almost family solidarity and shielded him as much as possible.

It was announced that Guttman would appeal, and he was allowed bail in £2,000. His brothers, Barons Viktor and Erno Guttman, immediately guaranteed this sum with a mortgage on two Vienna houses.

Otto Guttman, who had threatened to kill himself if convicted, covered his face with his hands while the judge was passing sentence, and he refused to leave the court until the corridor had been cleared of onlookers.

A BAD BLOW TO BOLSHEVISM.

FAMOUS CHEMIST LEAVES U.S.S.R.

PART PLAYED BY RESIDENT'S SON.

An interesting story is being told describing how the U.S.S.R. suffered a blow in connection with its military chemical industries from which it will take some time to recover.

The dramatic personae in the comedy are:—Professor, and ex-General Ipatieff, a great chemist and specialist in the chemistry of war.

Mr. A. Grosse, a young chemist of great talent, and son of the former Russian Consul-General in Shanghai, the late Mr. V. Grosse, The Aviochim, of which Professor Ipatieff was the head, and

A certain American organization.

Professor Ipatieff, during the Great War was the greatest Russian specialist in military chemistry, and whereas formerly Russia had depended upon Germany for her supplies in this connection, the Professor was able to supply the needs of the army through the organisation which he created for that purpose. He was very well known in Germany, where he was considered a danger to the future of the German chemical industry.

A Change of Mind.

When Bolshevism came into power in Russia, Professor Ipatieff, who was then a professor in the Imperial Artillery Academy of St. Petersburg, felt he did not want to leave Russia, being sure that he could work for his country even under the rule of the Bolsheviks. The military heads of the Red Army thoroughly well understood the value of Prof. Ipatieff's services, and did everything they could possibly do for him as a chemist and a private individual. Several times he was sent abroad by the Government, and he always returned, the Bolsheviks never dreaming of treason from an old man, over seventy years of age and not interested in politics.

This summer he was sent on a mission to Berlin and afterwards to the United States. In the former place he met Mr. A. V. Grosse, for whom he formed a strong attachment, finally inviting him to go with him to the United States as his interpreter.

Mr. Grosse accepted and both of them left Germany for the United States, where the old specialist was offered all manner of inducements to leave Russia and settle there. But he was adamant in his decision to return to Russia and in fact he and his companion left for Europe.

No one knows what occurred during the voyage, but as the vessel reached Cherbourg, Professor Ipatieff announced a complete change of mind and said that he would take the very next boat back to the United States.

Questions relative to the quota and visas on passports were settled on board the boat and within a week the Professor was back in New York, where he received the most cordial welcome.

Now, the Professor, who was the brains of the Aviochim and master of all the secrets of that organization, working for victory in the war which is to spread the revolution throughout the world, is remaining in America. It is reported that Mr. Grosse is also remaining in the United States where he will work with his old colleague.
